Activity(s): Name Trace
Children learn to recognize their name and develop cognitive and fine motor skills.
Aa is for Apple Activity
Arts and Crafts: Tissue Paper Butterfly
Arts and Crafts allow children to be creative and experiment with assorted manipulative items.
Free Play: Parachute, sidewalk chalk, bean bag toss
Through outdoor play, children enhance gross motor skills and practice school-age manners such as taking turns, sharing, and forming relationships with other children their age.

10 Best practices of successful parents/caregivers:

1. Commit to being your child's first teacher.
2. Be on time.
3. Be consistent- Bring child to Play Group on a regular basis.
4. Interact with your child as often as possible.
5. Give positive reinforcement.
6. Be positive role models for your child as well as other parents.
7. Model civic responsibility by helping clean up.
8. Participate in a child assessment tool.
9. Encourage a home visit from teaching staff.
10. Accompany children at all times.
